

Ekwantu Consulting Legal Disclaimer

For purposes of this Legal Disclaimer, “Ekwantu Consulting” shall mean Ekwantu Consulting (Pty) Ltd, including any of its subsidiaries, affiliates, or associated entities, where applicable.

Ekwantu Consulting (Pty) Ltd only binds itself to third parties by way of formal written agreements, the terms and conditions of which, as well as the signatories thereto, must be duly authorised by the Ekwantu Consulting Board of Directors through a formal written board resolution.

Ekwantu Consulting accordingly disclaims any and all liability, whether direct or indirect and of whatever nature, arising in circumstances where the above requirements have not been fully complied with. Third parties transacting or engaging with Ekwantu Consulting shall not be entitled to rely on the doctrine of estoppel in any dispute relating to authorised versus non-authorised agreements, commitments, or representations.

Ekwantu Consulting conducts its business strictly by means of formal written and duly signed agreements. This is governed by the company’s Delegation of Authority Policy, which provides, inter alia, that contractual agreements and commitments may only be executed by individuals who are expressly authorised in accordance with a valid resolution issued by the Board of Directors.

The onus of proving authorisation in respect of any transaction, engagement, agreement, or document rests entirely with the counterparty. Any transaction, engagement, undertaking, or document entered into or signed outside of the parameters described above shall be regarded as null and void, and accordingly unenforceable against Ekwantu Consulting.

Ekwantu Consulting expressly rejects the application of the common law principle of estoppel, and any party doing business with Ekwantu Consulting acknowledges that it shall not be entitled to rely on this principle under any circumstances.

Contact

For any legal queries relating to this disclaimer, please contact the Legal Department at Ekwantu Consulting legal@ekwantu.co.za